Director's Message: School Conferences – Wow! What a success!

Dear QSI Parents,

My message this week is very short and simple, but certainly powerful. I want to let you know how proud I am of you as parents. The turnout for parent/teacher conferences was very good and I am certainly impressed with how much you value the opportunity to speak with your child's teachers. QSI Shekou counts on effective communication between the school and home and the last two days have proven to me that you value this, as well.

I look forward to continuing a good communication link between your child, the teacher of your child and your child's home – with you, the parent as the key link to effective communication.

I wish you all a wonderful weekend!

Respectfully,

Mr. Page – Director

Art Then and Now (Indian Rangoli)

Mrs. Riemens' 5 year old art classes experienced Rangoli, the Indian art of decorating the floor or a wall with a geometric design, flowers, or animals. Intricate Rangoli are painted during Hindu festivals, such as Diwali, or birthdays. Each state of India has its own style of Rangoli. The 5-year-old students looked at different Rangoli designs. They used geometric shapes to draw their idea with white pencil on black paper. Then the students used wet chalk pastel to color in their Rangoli geometric pattern.
