Happy weekends to all!

"A you're adorable, B you're so beautiful and B is for butterfly, baby, balloon, bubbles, bumble bee and bib". The fun in learning the ABC's is hard to beat! Working on numbers with different activities keeps the children excited to try and do their best. No doubt - the 3 year olds have great attitudes as they enjoy learning in school.

For this week, we worked on letter B and number 3. Shapes, colors, and patterns were also integrated with letter B and number 3. Sets of activities for exploration and for fine skills were given for better learning and understanding.

It is important to teach preschoolers the value of families. A fun way to incorporate and explore this concept is by creating lessons and variety of activities that the student will surely enjoy. The “Family” theme provides the students with a basic knowledge of how families work and how they are different. When the students get engaged and are given an opportunity to discuss concepts related to families, they will gain more knowledge on how each family works together and how family is unique.
